mer is out.

C. W. Howard, of Georgia, in a letter published in the Atlanta Times, claims for Georgia the honor of the invention of the sewing machine, and says that the Rev. F. R. Goulding should have obtained the patent which was given to Howe. Mr. Goulding is a Presbyterian minister, Howe. Mr. Goulding is a Presbyterian minister, and is widely known as the author of the charming book "The Young Marooners." He possesses a great talent for mechanics, which he has ver developed for feat it would conflict with Col. Howard says that, sometime 648, he visited Mr. Goulding, him busily engaged it working g machine which he had invented, a proposed to patent so soci as he ne proposed to patent so soot as he suld get a part of the machine cast. If this he cas delayed, and meanwhile the patent was given to Howe. The importance of the invention was not understood at the time. on was not understood the time. Mr. Goulding is now seventy years of age, blind and in poverty. The fruits of his invention were never reaped, and but little has been realized by him rom the sale of his book, which has been trans-ited into almost every language of Europe. his is another instance of neglected genius in

SIMS .- Died, at the family residence in this County, on Monday 19th inst., Mrs. Cecilia G., with of John S. Sins, in great peace—in the 65th year of her age. Her maiden name was FARR. She was married in 1828, and was the mother of 12 chil-dren, of whom 7, with their bereaved father, survive, She joined the church at Fishdam in 1827, and was therefore for nearly half a cen-tury a member of the Methodist Church.

Her fatal disease was exceedingly painful, and for about six months before death relieved her, her sufferings were very great. But the fortitude and resignation with which she bore her afflictions, exemplified the sustaining power of divine grack, and greatly impressed those who sawher. She constantly spoke in the landary of the sawher. guage of hope and joyful expectation in regard to the future, and begged her friends to meet her in that better land to which she felt assured she was going.

The body was buried in the Methodist Church

Yard in this place to-day, and the flowing tears and loud lamentations of some of the chief mourners, and the evidently profound grief of all, gave a more than ordinary demonstration of filial love, and told unmistakably of her tenderness and affection, her excellence and worth.

A Flower that Changes Its Color.

Botany is a division of natural science which treats of ants, and a study of Vegetable Physiology must be the undation of botanical knowledge—a study only possible by the improvements in the microscope and in organic chemistry. As plants are not scattered haphazard over the earth, botanical geography must be studied, and, with this, plant-history. Botany may be applied to the wants of every-day life, as in Agriculture, Horticulture or Medical Botany. Animals often exhibit a marvelous instinct in selecting medical herbs, and an observation of their habits has often, even in the present time, led to most valuable discoveries. And should man with his knowledge and appliances, fall to discover less than the brute? It is of Medical Botany we would speak, or of the HEPATINE PLANT, discovered in Southern Nubia, the Flower of which changes its color with every change of the atmosphere. The remarkable changes and variations of this Plant and Flower have been for years our special study, resulting in the discovery of its possession of wonderful medical properties, the existence and value of which have heretofore been entirely unknown to medical science. After much labor and scientific investigation, we have succeded in extracting its peculiar medicinal principles, which is a specific and cure for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels; a permanelic care for Dyspessia, Indigestion, Spleen, Constipation, Jaundice, and all Rilious Complaints. Of course we cannot send a living Flower of this plant to all who read of sepatine; but to all who will send free a face-simile of the Flower, that will change its color just the same as the real Hepatine Flower, we will send free a face-simile of the Flower, that will change its color just the same as the real Hepatine Flower. Money and Life Saved by its Use.

Important Discovery—Galileo invented the telescope; Columbus discovered a new world; Harvey, the circulation of the blood, and to Professor Morse is due the credit of teaching the lightning how to talk, but it was reserved to Dr. J. Bradfield to penetrate the mystic depths of science, and drag therefrom the wonder of our century. The victory has been won, and woman is free.

The sale of Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator is unprecedented in the history of popular remedies, and thousands of certificates are coming in from grateful women, throughout the Union, attesting its powers and applauding its untold benefits to their sex.

A Beautiful Woman.

In a neighboring village there lives a young lady who, two years ago, was an object of pity to all who knew her. From a little imprudence at an improper time, she became irregular, and was the victim of suppression in all its horrors. Such were the ravages of the disease, she was misgerable and unfit for social enjoyment. After trying many remedies, and paying much more is ophysicians, a friend sont her a couple of bottles of Legulator. She inaproved after taking the first, and before taking the second she became sound and well. Now, two years after taking the first bottles, she is fully restored to her former health, and is a most beautiful woman. Proper respect for the family, prevents our giving the name.
